Falkenhayn's Advance Checked Everywhere Along Southern Transylvania.

SERES UNDER BOMBARDMENT

Greek King Delays Entrance Into War Because of Conviction That Germany Will Overrun Roumania in 15 Days and Fear of Similar Fate for Greece.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A Rome wireless report said the Austrians lost 28,000 in a two day battle on Corso Plateau and the battle is still undiminished.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Bucharest dispatches reported the Roumanians had halted an attempted Austro-German invasion south of Red Tower pass and drove the Teutons back a short distance from the border.

Falkenhayn's advance is checked everywhere along the southern Transylvanian frontier. The Roumanian northern wing halted the Germans along the eastern frontier. Elsewhere the Roumanian resistance is stiffening.

The battle on both allied Balkan fronts is becoming more violent. The British are fighting in the outskirts of Seres. The city is under bombardment.

The Bulgars are countering desperately along the left wing but are unable to bend the Serbian line.

King Constantine, despite the growth of the Venizelos movement continues to delay plans for Greek entry into the war. The Athens correspondent of the Daily Chronicle declared the king told a diplomat he believed Germany would overrun Roumania within fifteen days and feared Greece would meet a similar fate if she joined the allies.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—It is announced the Germans re-occupied a portion of Abincourt village south of the Somme and captured trenches northwest of the city. The French (immediate) countered and ousted the Germans.

LETTER CAMPAIGN BRINGING RESULTS

The personal letter writing campaign in behalf of the normal school measure is bringing results is shown by numerous response letters being received from various parts of the state.

Writing from Isaac G. M. Rice, vice president of the First National Bank, E. S. Harris said: "I think the state needs another school and I am in favor of it being located at Pendleton." Continuing the Grant county man promises to work and vote for the measure.

Dr. F. M. Brooks of Portland is another party responding to a letter from Mr. Rice pledging his support for the measure. Mr. Brooks takes the view that Pendleton is deserving of success in this campaign.

WILSON TALK OF M. A. MILLER DRAWS LARGE MILTON CROWD

MILTON-FREEWATER, Ore., Oct. 14.—(Special)—In an eloquent address before a large and enthusiastic audience in Milton last evening Milton A. Miller of Portland praised the administration of President Wilson on the ground the president has kept the nation at peace and insured prosperity, at the same time enactment of more beneficial, progressive legislation than was previously enacted in many years.

Addressing himself particularly to the progressives Mr. Miller declared that many of the achievements of the Wilson administration directly fulfill the progressive platform of 1912. He listed these as follows:
1.—Prohibition of child labor.
2.—Currency reform.
3.—Tariff reform and reduction of excessive duties under the Payne-Aldrich law.

LONERGAN TEAM WINS IN COMMERCIAL CLUB MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN

Though yesterday was "Friday the 13th" it failed to cast any hood over the whirlwind membership campaign conducted by the Commercial association. That campaign was a huge success in every department. From the getting of new members to the get-together banquet in the Baugh-Woodman hall which concluded the day.

In all, the campaign netted the association 185 new members. The team of C. P. A. Lonergan was victorious in the contest, bringing in a total of 92 applications or within one of as many as the other four teams combined. The teams of Rev. J. E. Snyder was second with 42, the H. E. Chloupek team was third with 22 and the J. V. Tallman team fourth with 8. The Marion Jack team withdrew from the contest through a misunderstanding of the rules but contributed forfeited money to help pay for the banquet.

The race early in the day was seen to be between the Lonergan and Snyder teams. The latter led in the blackboard figures at the corner of Main and Court until the last few minutes when Captain Lonergan put in a bunch of more than forty applications which he had been holding in reserve.

Rev. Snyder and Dave Nelson were the biggest individual producers each securing about thirty applications. Captain Lonergan's team was composed of Dave Nelson, John Montgomery, George Hartman, Roy Raley, Dr. Frank E. Boyden, A. H. Cox, Dr. M. S. Kern and Merle P. Chessman. Rev. Snyder's helpers were W. E. Brock, Dr. David Hill, H. G. Blydenstein, G. M. Rice, W. E. Lowell, J. F. Robinson, George C. Baer and T. J. Tweedy.

More than 200 members, old and new, gathered at the Baugh-Woodman hall at 4 o'clock for the banquet prepared by the domestic science girls of the high school. It was a very palatable banquet and was greatly enjoyed. The spirit of good fellowship prevailed throughout the evening and there were enough serious moments to make the get-together meeting stand for the beginning of a new era in the development of the city's principal civic institution.

Rev. J. E. Snyder presided over the banquet as toastmaster and at the beginning proposed the following toast to Pendleton:
"Here's to Pendleton, dear old Pendleton, the biggest and best little city in the world, Pendleton, the city with high ideals and clean morals; Pendleton, the city of good schools, good churches and splendid citizenship; Pendleton, the city of beautiful homes, handsome women and healthy babies; Pendleton, the city that produces the finest blankets, the best saddles, the purest flour and the biggest combines in the world; Pendleton, the gem of the Umatilla, the home of the biggest-hearted, the broadest-minded, most philanthropic and most public-spirited men and women in the northwest. To Pendleton, a bigger, better and happier Pendleton, we drink the health in the pure, sweet wine drawn from the vintage of thy hills."

During the course of the banquet, beautiful vocal selections were sung by Miss Esther South, Miss Mayree Snyder and Professor Robson. The latter also gave some splendid dramatic recitations and told stories that evoked much laughter. An orchestra also contributed to the enjoyment of the evening.

When the last course had disappeared and while the cigars were being smoked, the toastmaster introduced a number of members who made short speeches.

Toasts Are Made.
J. V. Tallman, former president, was called first and spoke on "The Commercial Club in Retrospect," telling of some of the accomplishments which have marked the past history of the organization. He was followed by the toast, "The Commercial Club in Prospect." He dwelt upon the necessity of the new members giving their hearty support and co-operation to the tasks confronting the association. W. L. Thompson spoke on "The Commercial Club As It Is" and told of the elements which have contributed toward making Pendleton the biggest little city in the world. G. M. Rice discussed the normal school bill, urging all Pendleton citizens to join actively in the campaign for that measure. He quoted some statistics on the comparative appropriations made by the states of Oregon, Washington, Idaho and California since 1909 for normal schools, showing that this state had been so miserably behind that her citizens had a right to feel ashamed. He also told of the endorsements given the measure by educators, of the fact that only 15 per cent of the teachers of Oregon are normal trained and of the small tax, only four cents on the thousand dollars, necessary to maintain the proposed school.

One minute toasts were made by C. P. A. Lonergan, captain of the winning team, James H. Gwin on the "Pendleton spirit," R. W. Ritter on "The Round-Up," J. Roy Raley on "Hannu Canyon," J. W. Huff on "Why I Came Back to Pendleton." Prof. I. (Continued on Page 6.)

"GOLDEN SPECIAL GETS WARM WELCOME FROM THROGHS OF WILSON WOMEN IN PORTLAND"

MILITIA HELD TO GUARD THE U. S. FRONTIER

Wilson Declares Mexican Conditions are Improving But Protection is Necessary.

REGRETS DISCOMFORT OF MEN

Would Be Sorry to Have Anybody Suppose Troops Are Being Retained on Border for the Purpose of Completing Their Military Training.

ASHBURY PARK, Oct. 14.—President Wilson wrote Governor Whitman declaring that northern Mexico conditions were improving. He predicted the government would soon release border militiamen.

"The war department policy is to distribute the border guard burden over the entire militia, to frequently relieve the units, send them home and dispatch other regiments from camp to the border. This minimizes the sacrifice each guardman makes. I deeply realize the inconvenience the recent emergency caused militiamen.

"Unhappily, the emergency still exists and military authorities advise me that the withdrawal of the militia from the border might result in fresh Mexican aggressions. The militia is being used to repel invasion. In the near future we may be able to further relieve the embarrassments under which the organized militia regiments necessarily suffered.

"I would be sorry to have anybody suppose the militia is being retained on the border for the purpose of completing military training. They're preserving the American frontier from aggression."

Hughes Crowd is Outnumbered by Enthusiastic Supporters of President Who Wave Banners and Shout "We Want Wilson"

SPEAKERS ASK PROTECTION

Mrs. Henry Moskowitz and Mrs. Raymond Robins Fear to Make Addresses Without a Bodyguard—Women Get Ovation Enroute to Hotel.

PORTLAND, Oct. 14.—The Hughes women's special campaigners left the train at the Union station at 9 o'clock this morning. The Multnomah republican club band and drill team greeted them. The police estimated that Wilson women outnumbered the Hughes crowd.

The Wilsonites screamed: "We want Wilson." "Where's the casket. Fetch the coffin." There was great confusion.

The women carried banners "Which Rose laid the Hughes special Golden egg, Mrs. Belmont or Mrs. Smelter Trust Guggenheim?" "Remember the Danbury Hatters and the fifty thousand dollar fine."

Police Force Pathway. Despite the commotion the Hughes campaigners gained the street. Police forcing a pathway through the crowd, and marched to the Multnomah hotel. They received an ovation enroute. Wilsonites followed heckling them until exhausted.

A big crowd of Hughes supporters met the visitors at the hotel. Mrs. Meta T'Hooff Ione started a Wilson yell. A crowd of men surrounded her. She cried "Hands off. Remember I'm a lady."

Mrs. Henry Moskowitz asked a police bodyguard during her speech at the Neustader Brothers factory. Mrs. Raymond Robins also asked for a bodyguard during her speech at the Mount Hood factory. The manager of the factory promised protection.

Downtown Meeting Disrupted. All downtown street meetings except one were cancelled lest carefully organized democratic counter demonstrations cause trouble. Mrs. Katherine P. Edson of Los Angeles and Elizabeth Freeman of Seattle, spoke to a large crowd at a busy downtown corner. Wilson automobile scouts quickly located the meeting and spread the word. Wilson machines rushed from all directions. There was great excitement. The Wilson women wedged their cars closely beside the Hughes machine and yelled "We want Wilson," until Mrs. Edson's words were drowned. The police forced the Wilson cars to move on as they blocked the street. Others immediately replaced them. Police Chief Clark sent special details of reserves to all points where the speeches were scheduled to prevent trouble. The biggest verbal fight is expected at the Eleventh Street theater mass meeting this afternoon.

Brought to Hospital. The little daughter of Hugh Stanfield of Stanfield was brought to St. Anthony's hospital the first of the week. She is suffering from pneumonia.

This country will have its regular Thanksgiving day, no matter who is elected.

LADIES RESENT EFFORT TO DIVERT LIBRARY BALL FUND

The following statement regarding the money in the library ball fund, and the purpose for which it should be used was made today by Mrs. Jessie S. Vert, for several years chairman of the general committee that managed the annual library ball through which the $395 fund was raised:

Since reading in the papers Oct. 6th that C. P. Strain had been asked to prepare a financial statement of city library expenses for the city council, quite a good number of the women of Pendleton have been waiting to see what Mr. Strain intended to do with the $395.19 earned by the Women's Clubs of Pendleton at the annual library balls of the last few years, which money was set aside by vote of the library board for the new library building fund. Now we notice from the papers this week that he offered it to the city council at their meeting of Oct. 11th to assist in the current expenses of a city library.

Mr. Strain has had nothing whatever to do with raising this money. His only connection with it has been to receive it when the women who earned it handed it into his care as treasurer of the board.

The writer feels a special interest in the use made of this money because for the three years 1912, 1914 and 1915, while a member of the library board, she was chairman of the general committee which arranged for the annual library balls and therefore knows full well the hearty support given by each of the women's clubs of the city and the hard work they have done towards making these balls the social and financial success they have been.

Board Votes Money for "Building Fund." In the minutes of the library board meeting of Oct. 17th, 1914, stands the following: "Motion made by Mr. Rawstall, seconded by Mrs. Landars. (Continued on Page 12.)"

RESIN FOUND ON BODY OF WIFE OF BROKER; LATER HELD FOR MURDER

MOUNTAIN VIEW, N. H., Oct. 14. It is stated here that the body of Mrs. Florence A. Small which was found in the ruins of her summer home at Oaspee which was destroyed by fire had been covered with resin.

This fact was revealed by a thorough examination, in which Medical Referee Frank Horne was assisted by several other physicians. Mrs. Small's husband, Frederick L. Small, Boston broker, is under arrest on a charge of murder. He is in jail at Oaspee.

It has been determined that Mrs. Small was shot and strangled before the house was burned. The resin is supposed to have been applied to insure destruction of the body and thus eliminate evidence of crime.
